10TH ANNIVERSARY

DALLAS

3.3 CARATS

This mint emerald ring by Dallas jewelry designer Andrew Glassford (andrewglassfordjewels.com) has 3.3 carats of stones set into 18K white gold. A 2.23-carat emerald-cut center stone and .97 carats of heart-shaped side stones make up this striking piece ($5,800). Glassford, who grew up in Laredo and is a banker by day, has been fascinated by gems since he was a child. Originally inspired by a brooch his mother wore, he designed his first piece, El Pescado, to pay homage to his childhood memories. Glassford creates bold ready-to-wear pieces as well as custom jewelry using extraordinary stones such as fancy sapphires, diamonds and emeralds paired with crystals such as chrysoprase and variations of chalcedony like agate. The piece featured here can be thought of as a departure from the traditional engagement ring or a gift to celebrate the 20th anniversary of marriage. —Kristie Ramirez
